Boy And Man Partnership Stressed At Dinner Of Big Brothers Here

"Don't ever let anyone sell you a bill of goods that all that sincere affection is needed. This you need of our youth are being taken care of, or are being taken care of by professional people," said Meyer Levin to the local Big Brothers at their dinner meeting last night at the Venice Restaurant.

"You are a living example that the lay as well as the professional person is involved. The Big Brothers of America is the only organization where lay persons are involved in the work," said Levin. "In fact, through our organization the work is carried on as it should be—through a partnership between the boy and man. We are concerned not only with prevention, but with correction and civics."

Levin, executive secretary of the Jewish Big Brothers of Baltimore, told the audience of members and guests that the wrong type of home environment is responsible for 70 to 80 percent of all problems concerning youth, and that topping the list of environment wrongs is the lack of parental love and affection. "You can't grow children by remote control," said Levin. "Love, devotion and

North High Band On TV Saturday

The North Hagerstown High School Symphonic Band, as one of the highlights of its spring concert season, will appear on WGAL-TV, Channel 8, Lancaster, Pa., on Saturday between 1:30 and 2 p.m.

The 100-piece band, under the direction of John Figlar, Jr., taped the program earlier this week at the invitation of the station. The group was invited to make a return appearance after performing before the WGAL-TV cameras last spring, and has already been extended an invitation to perform next year.

Mr. Figlar said last night that both the band and the television station had received many letters of commendation from leading music educators after its program last year.

Accompanying him and the band to Lancaster this week were members of the Band Parents' Association and Robert Leshor of the Board of Education. The video tape will be used again during the spring and summer as a fill-in program on Channel 8.

The North High music group has been active since the first of the year, doing a series of radio concerts over WARK on the last Sunday of each month. Beginning March 15, the group will begin a new series of programs over WJEF to stimulate interest in the instrumental music program in the public schools of Washington County.

The eagerly awaited event for the North High bandmen will be the annual spring concert on March 23, scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. In keeping with a policy initiated at North High to give the young people of the community the richest music experience possible, the band will have as guest soloist David Weber, internationally famed clarinetist. Arrangements for Mr. Weber's appearance were made through The Studio, Chewsville.

Tickets for the concert are now on sale and can be purchased from band members, band parents, or at the door.

programs were held during the eight-month period: picnic at Pangborn Park; swim and picnic at the Municipal Pool; football game, the Colts versus the Redskins; the Washington County Rifle and Pistol Club (three Little Brothers are now enrolled); a Christmas party; movies at the Maryland Theatre.

Activities scheduled beginning this month include a skating party at the Starland Roller Rink, a swim at the YMCA and an over-night hike.

JFK Defends School Aid Bill would like to see a lessening of that tension. That is our hope from the beginning.

"But we are not prepared to surrender in order to get a relaxation of that."

Again and again, in reply to questions, the President returned to the problem of education aid. A spokesman recalled Kennedy's statement last week that "there is no debate" about the unconstitutionality of aid to parochial schools.

"No room for debate about grants," Kennedy said, clarifying his previous statement. "There is obviously room for debate about loans, because it has been debated."

But, he added, "my judgment has been that across-the-board loans are also unconstitutional."

This was Kennedy's sixth news conference.

Among other matters, Kennedy touched on:

MISSILE GAP—Kennedy said he looks for completion in the next few days of a Defense Department study which will indicate whether the Soviet Union has a missile advantage over the United States. A reporter reminded the President that he expected to have an answer from the Pentagon by this time.

ECONOMY—As a result of a review of purchasing and construction plans in the federal government, $660 million more will be spent before June 30 than had been planned originally. The speedup is an effort to spur the lagging economy.

FOOD—Under a program aimed at relieving unemployment hardship, the number of people receiving surplus food has doubled—from 3.5 million in December to 6.1 million at this time—Kennedy reported.

Army Needs Information Trainees

M/Sgt. George R. Schnurr of the U. S. Army Recruiting Service in City Hall, Hagerstown, announces critical shortage in the information field.

Sgt. Schnurr said that for the high school graduate who is interested in journalism or public relations, this is a good opportunity to gain valuable training and experience. This is also the chance for a young man already in this field to continue his work and studies while fulfilling his military obligation.

The Army Information School at Fort Slocum, N.Y., provides an eight week course in applied journalism, radio-television public speaking, and the public information policies and plans of the U. S. Army. Because of the high level of instruction, most colleges and universities give credit toward a college degree for certain portions of the course.

"This is only one of the many U. S. Army schools guaranteed to today's young people before enlistment in the modern Army," said Sgt. Schnurr. He further stated he would be glad to answer any questions a young man, or woman, might have concerning other Army schools. He can be reached at his office in City Hall or by phoning RE 3-7925.

and that congestion often resulted when people arrived to pick up foods. He said also that there are safety hazards in the present location.

Moats said that his employees would not only be happy to guarantee the owner of the hall that the building would be kept in good condition, but that they would personally attend to keeping it clean after each distribution date.

The next food distribution in Keedysville is scheduled for March 16.

TAXING DECISION

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. —Home is where a man's bedroom is.

That's the official word from the Wisconsin Department of Taxation.

The line dividing the town of Linn and the city of Lake Geneva passes through the home of Curtis McKay. Both communities claimed they were due the local refund on state taxes paid by McKay.

The department agreed with the city, noting that McKay's bedroom was in Lake Geneva. As a result, the city received a check for $10,008, representing income tax returns for three years.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not just sprinkle a little PASTETHIN, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not stain, checks "plate color breath." Get PASTETHIN at drug counters everywhere.

Firm Marks First Year In County

Ward Leonard Electric Company celebrated its first anniversary in Hagerstown yesterday.

Roger W. Lowery, plant manager who arrived here just a year ago in search of a factory site, entertained community leaders at a luncheon in the Air View Restaurant's new banquet quarters — "The Starlight Room."

Mr. Lowery, in brief remarks thanked all who helped the firm to locate here, and who since have helped the firm become an active member of the community.

After the luncheon, the group toured Ward Leonard's modern new factory facilities at the Martin Road Interchange of Interstate Route 81 just north of Hagerstown.

Mr. Lowery explained that the plant has started production of electrical resistors on a test basis. As soon as tests have been completed within the next few months, full production will be started, with some increase in employment anticipated later in the year.

Bank Bandit Soon Caught

BALTIMORE (AP) — A tall, quiet bandit robbed a downtown bank of $2,861 here Wednesday. Police later captured an unarmed suspect and recovered all the money.

The robber entered a branch of the Baltimore National Bank and held a teller, Mrs. Jean Rosendale, to hand the money over the counter.

The man kept his hand in his pocket as though carrying a gun, she later told police. He acted so quickly and quietly that others in the bank remained unaware that a hold-up was in progress.

After giving the man the cash—most of it in ten-dollar denominations — Mrs. Rosendale stepped on an alarm as the bandit escaped.

Two detectives in a patrol car nearly heard a report of the crime on police radio and went to the scene. But the bank's manager, Oscar Ross, denied the report.

Mrs. Rosendale later told officers she was stunned by the robbery and did not immediately alert Ross.

He later issued a second alarm, which summoned officers at police headquarters, a few blocks away.

Within minutes police broadcast Mrs. Rosendale's description of the robber.

Two patrolmen spotted a man fitting the description less than half mile from the bank.

The man offered no resistance when the officers ordered him to surrender at gunpoint.

The officers said the suspect had the money in his coat pockets. They described him as a 30-year-old mechanic from Casper, Wyo.
